

See a Film

Change Lives

THE DARK SIDE OF CHOCOLATE

Film Screening

Friday, February 11

6:30 pm – 8:30 pm

University of San Francisco,

McLaren Building

Room MC 252

Is the chocolate we eat produced with the use of child labor and trafficked children? Journalist Miki Mistrati travels to Mali in West Africa to learn the truth. See the film to learn more about THE DARK SIDE OF CHOCOLATE.

AND JOIN US FOR THE MODERN DAY ABOLITIONIST AWARD CEREMONY

Many amazing individuals are doing their part to end human trafficking. Annually, the San Francisco Collaborative Against Human Trafficking honors one or more of these activists and advocates with the Modern Day Abolitionist Award.

At the film screening, we will celebrate the achievements of a true hero, the 2011 Modern Day Abolitionist. Nomination forms are available online at www.sfcaht.org. All nominations are due January 28, 2011.

-- Free and Open to the Public --

Co-hosted by SFCAHT and the Not For Sale Campaign

Learn more about the 2011 Awareness Campaign at www.sfcaht.org or contact:
Linda Janourova, Human Rights Commission, Linda.Janourova@sfgov.org.