

San Francisco Public Library

and

San Francisco Collaborative Against Human Trafficking

present:

ANATOMY OF A CASE: Federal Interventions in Human Trafficking Cases

Wednesday, February 2, 2011

6:00 pm – 7:30 pm

Koret Auditorium, Lower Level, Main Branch

San Francisco Public Library

100 Larkin Street (Entrance at Grove St.)

Human trafficking is a multi-million dollar industry in the United States, and it takes a team of law enforcement officials to bring traffickers to justice. The U.S. Attorney's Office, the FBI, Homeland Security, and the San Francisco Police Department all work together to investigate cases, prosecute traffickers, and bring victims to safety. Find out more about how this complex system works, directly from the source.

With Expert Panelists:

SSA Steven Merrill
Federal Bureau of Investigation

Jennifer Alderette
Homeland Security

Assistant U.S. Attorney
United States Attorney's Office

Lt. Mary Petrie
San Francisco Police Department

Questions?

Laura Marshall, Department on the Status of Women, 415.252.2578, laura.marshall@sfgov.org

This event is part of the 2011 Human Trafficking Awareness Campaign. Find a full calendar of events at www.sfcaht.org.