

BRIAN WO

Co-founder of the Bay Area
Anti-Trafficking Coalition

Brian Wo is the Chief Program Officer of the Bay Area Anti-Trafficking Coalition (BAATC), and has been fighting human trafficking since traveling to Thailand to do anti-trafficking work in 2008. After co-founding BAATC in 2011, he has participated in every Bay Area County Anti-Trafficking Task Force to build a collaborative network of outreach organizations, service providers, and government agencies which can provide strategic responses to local trafficking.

Brian speaks in schools, civic groups, faith communities, and at other public events, including BAATC's Freedom Summits. His expertise in equipping individuals to discover their part in standing against injustice enables others to use their skills to impact their communities. Brian spearheads BAATC's training programs, and has developed online courses to scale the number of people trained to identify and report trafficking.
