MODERN DAY ABOLITIONIST AWARD 2021 Nomination Instructions

The San Francisco Collaborative Against Human Trafficking is seeking nominations of leaders in combating human trafficking in the San Francisco Bay Area to receive the 2021 Modern Day Abolitionist Award.

Nominees must be active in the fight to end modern day slavery through human trafficking prevention, prosecution or protection of victims. Nominees must have demonstrated a commitment to creating a local and global community that values human life and abhors practices that deny a person's right to live a life free from violence, exploitation, or slavery.

The Collaborative comprises of representatives from nongovernmental organizations, government agencies, businesses and the community. SFCaHT recognizes that leaders can emerge from diverse fields and backgrounds, and encourages nominations from all sectors of anti-trafficking work in the San Francisco Bay Area. For more information about SFCaHT, visit www.sfcaht.org.

NOMINATIONS

To nominate an individual, please submit an application (no longer than one page) by 5:00 pm PT on Wednesday, December 16, 2020, including the following information:

1. Your name and contact information, including agency affiliation (if applicable);
2. Nominee's name and contact information, including agency affiliation (if applicable);
3. Your relationship with the nominee (if relevant); and
4. An explanation, in 2 or 3 paragraphs, how the nominee embodies the SFCaHT values, and why the nominee should be awarded the SFCaHT Modern Day Abolitionist Award.

SELECTION

A Selection Committee of the Collaborative will review all nominations. The winner of the 2021 Modern Day Abolitionist Award will be honored at the January 8, 2021 SFCaHT's kickoff press conference of the Anti-Human Trafficking Awareness Month.
